SHIP PROBLEMS OF U. S. DEBATED

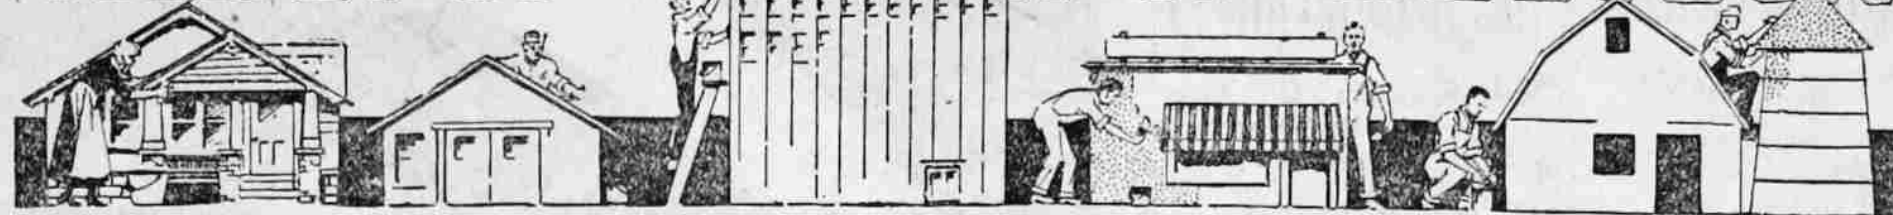

Businessmen and Committee
Chairman to Outline Policy
at Washington

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Data bearing on problems of the shipping board in its operation and disposition to private ownership of the government's merchant marine was submitted today to business men of the country and chairmen of congressional committees who began a two days' conference here with members of the board.

Two former chairmen of the board, Secretary of Interior Payne and Edward N. Hurley of Chicago, were among those present. The men advising with the board represent the country's greatest commercial and industrial interests.

Particular importance attaches to the point of view of the leaders of industries in the middle west, officials of the board declared. There people have not become accustomed to think in terms of ships, and it is especially desired that they be awakened to the necessity for an American merchant marine to transport the nation's commerce.

CLEAN UP & PAINT UP CAMPAIGN

For the good health and prosperity of a community, cleanliness is an imperative duty devolving upon each individual. The physical well-being of every locality depends largely upon its sanitary regulations, and the physical condition has much to do with mental activity and higher intellectuality of the people, all of which makes for a more thrifty and enterprising population. Big accomplishments cannot be realized in filth and squalor, for under such circumstances stagnation and lethargy predominate and the wheels of progress are clogged—a thriving and happy populace is characterized by cleanliness and purity, both in body and mind.

In the past Ogden has justly boasted of clean streets and homes and it is unquestionable that this rule will prevail this year. This will depend, however, upon the energy put forth by the people of the city during the coming cleanup week inaugurated by proclamation of Mayor Francis. It will be incumbent on citizens to carefully observe this municipal regulation and take every advantage of the opportunity to thoroughly renovate, inside and out, the business districts and homes. This means that the paint brush should be freely used until new coats of paint embellish the homes and business houses from garret to cellar, both outwardly and on the inside; whitewash and calcimine should pervade every nook and corner; fresh, new paper decorate every inner wall and the mark of soap and water be in evidence throughout every edifice.

Then, too, the yards, front and back, should experience the cleaning effects of the rake, hoe and shovel until every particle of rubbish and garbage shall have been removed, all of which should be taken to places designated as "dump heaps" where the contaminating influence is nullified to the minimum degree. This uncleanly accumulation of debris of the winter months which befouls the air, wherever it may be, should be confined to flames of fire and turned back to the elements from whence it came. In short, our city should be made clean and be kept clean, that lurking disease germs and unwholesome odors may be entirely obliterated. The city should be made a fit abode for healthy, robust and energized people.

To this end the city fathers have planned a clean-up campaign which will begin Monday morning, April 19th. They proffer to haul away, free of charge, all rubbish and garbage that may be placed at convenient places in the residential districts, the dates for gathering the filth being given in this clean-up section of the Standard-Examiner. The people are urged to carefully observe the rules and regulations of this campaign and have the rubbish ready for hauling at the time and place designated in particular districts of the city. It requires only a comparatively short time at each home to gather together tin cans, stacks of paper, refuse substances and all kinds of unsightly and uncleanly accumulations for sanitary disposition.

PAINTING IS ECONOMY THROUGH PRESERVATION. Too many people today consider Paint only from a decorative standpoint. While Paint is a great decorative medium—ITS FIRST PURPOSE, nevertheless, IS PRESERVATION AND PROTECTION.

Unless properly painted the wooden parts of a building soon absorb moisture and swell. The joints open and disintegration is rapid. The metal roof, gutters and railings soon rust and in a remarkably short time are past repair. Painting as a preservative against the elements is absolutely necessary.

The large iron dome of the United States Capitol shows the need of painting every three years. If this had not been done the structure would have long since been past repair. The same deterioration is probably progressing to greater or less extent on your property today.

The soft sandstone exterior of the White House has been preserved these many years with paint. It was found necessary, as the stone was rapidly disintegrating. Cement structures absorb moisture and in damp weather present a blotched appearance, the surface becoming dark. If painted, the cement becomes moisture-proof and the structure remains clean and attractive.

There are many frame dwellings on the New England coast built over two hundred years ago now in a perfect state of preservation, as a result of the occasional application of paint.

It is just as necessary to have your property painted regularly as it is to pay for protection by fire insurance; in fact, more so, for the reason that money spent for fire insurance premiums represents an expenditure to protect against a POSSIBLE loss, whereas failure to make the proper expenditure for paint protection means failure to protect against CERTAIN loss.

Gen. Harts Defends Control in France

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Brigadier General Harts, former commandant of American troops in the Paris district, told a house investigating committee that General Pershing gave him full responsibility to cope with conditions arising from misdeeds of American officers and enlisted men.

General Harts said he had not sought command of Paris but it was given him by General Pershing who declared that "officers and men in Paris were behaving in such a way as to give the American army a bad name."

"I think I improved conditions and did it well," the witness added.

Caillaux Death Not Asked by Prosecutor

PARIS, April 15.—The case of Joseph Caillaux, former premier of France, on trial for alleged treason, entered the summing up stage for the prosecution yesterday with the resumption of the high court's sessions after the Easter holiday. It is expected that a verdict will be rendered within a fortnight, probably by April 24 or 25.

Theodore Lescoupe, the prosecutor, in closing his address, asked the court to find M. Caillaux guilty as charged, but he refrained from asking the death penalty for the accused.
